FUTURE OF IRISH AGRICULTURE

DEPUTY'S FEAR FOR STORE CATTLE TRADE

DURING the discussion of the agricultural estimate, in the Dail yesterday, Mr. Childers spoke of the prospect of an international cartel after war for the exchange of produce.

He expressed the belief that, whether this country liked it or not, the British Government might refuse, within a decade from now, or even earlier, to accept any cattle from this country unless they are graded and weighed in the same standard condition as frozen beef from the Argentine.

Mr. Childers was anxious to know whether the Minister was willing to consider now the re-establishment of some planning authority.

Dublin's bread queues and shortage of butter were described as a "sad commentary on the administration of the departments responsible for supplies and produce."

Dr. J. HANNIGAN (Lab., Dublin) said that lower production was not responsible for the shortage of butter—the "racketeers" had it. He alleged that last week, while the Minister for Agriculture was telling the House that no butter was being exported, a ship left Dublin quays, loaded with butter and bacon, for the Isle of Man.

Declaring that the Minister had failed to safeguard a supply of butter for Dublin, Alderman A. BYRNE (Ind., Dublin) appealed to the heads of the Government Departments to get together and consider what could be done to meet the serious food situation in the city.

AFTER THE WAR

The prospect of an international cartel being set up after the war for the exchange of produce was mentioned by Mr. E. CHILDERS (F.F., Longford), who suggested that all small countries would be compelled to participate in it. In that event, he said, this country would have less freedom of exchange, and the future of agriculture was gravely in doubt.

"I should like," he said, "to make a dangerous prophecy—that, whether we like it or not, in a decade from now, or even earlier, the British Government may refuse to accept any cattle from this country unless they are graded and weighed in exactly the same standard condition as frozen beef from the Argentine; that before they will be able to leave this country they will have to pass through a fine mesh of examination, and that the whole easy-going store cattle production will have to be altered; that we shall have to have something in the nature of scientific grading and standardisation, and that we will have to take it or leave it. I put forward the suggestion to find out whether the Minister is willing to consider now the re-establishment of some planning authority."

THE BLACK MARKET

The suggestion was made by Mr. BELTON (Ind., Dublin) that only for the "Black Market" the country would be starving. Any of the fertilisers that were any good, he said, came out of the "Black Market," and the other kind were useless.

What bargain was the Minister making with the British Government for post-war arrangements, Mr. J. J. COLE (Ind., Cavan) asked. Was the Minister following the policy of wait and see?

Having stated that 99 per cent. of the farmers had come to the aid of the Government, Mr. Cole said that he had read in the Irish Times of the efforts being made in the North in the interests of the farmer. Let Dr. Ryan tell them what he proposed to do for the farmer.

The House adjourned until 3 p.m. to-day.

DUBLIN SHOPS CLOSING HOURS

LEGAL ARGUMENTS TO BE HEARD

Fines ranging from 5s. to 10s. were imposed by District Justice Burke, in the Dublin District Court yesterday, on a number of shopkeepers who had lights in their windows after closing hours.

A large number of other shopkeepers were summoned for having their shops open after the hour fixed by the Emergency Powers (Early Closing of Shops in Dublin) Order, 1941, for the purpose of serving customers.

Mr. T. Greene (Messrs. Roger Greene and Son), who appeared for a number of the defendants, raised the interesting point—if a Dublin shop keeps open after the hours fixed in the Closing Order, is it open for the purpose of serving customers? In many cases the shops were open, but there was no business transacted with customers.

The Justice adjourned all these cases until to-morrow to have the point legally argued.

BELFAST RECONSTRUCTION

Mr. W. R. Davidge, the town-planning expert, who recently visited Northern Ireland at the request of the Northern Government, has sent in a preliminary report, in which he recommends a reconstruction of Belfast that would add to the city's efficiency and amenities. The plan makes recommendations for a great part of Northern Ireland, particularly the seaboard counties of Down, Antrim and Derry, as well as Derry City. Mr. Davidge suggests that the Ministry of Home Affairs should sponsor any plan of reconstruction of the province.

BELFAST RAID SHELTERS

At Belfast yesterday Thomas Joseph Gray (37), merchant tailor, of Cliftonville avenue, and John Mulvenna (30), bricklayer, 70 Main street, Ballyclare, were remanded on the charge of having effected a public mischief in connection with the erection of air raid shelters.

Gray had the contract for the erection of shelters, and Mulvenna was his foreman. The prosecution alleged that they "unlawfully, fraudulently and deceitfully" departed from the terms of the contract, and caused the shelters to be constructed "in a defective and unconscionable manner."

SIR STAFFORD CRIPPS HOME

Sir Stafford Cripps declined to talk about his mission to India when he arrived back in London last night. Also in the party was Sir Harold MacMichael, High Commissioner for Palestine. Mr. L. S. Amery, Secretary for India, had a short talk with Sir Stafford, who later saw Mr. Churchill.

DID NOT SLIGHT IRISH

GEORGE FORMBY'S DENIAL

Columbia Pictures Corporation, Ltd., distributors of George Formby's latest picture, have offered to double the £100 which Mr. and Mrs. Formby have announced they will pay to any person who can substantiate rumours that he made slighting remarks about the Irish people in a broadcast.

As a result of these rumours one of George Formby's pictures showing in Limerick was boycotted for the first few days of its stay. In the days that followed, however, the ban was apparently removed, and receipts were higher than for any other Formby picture which the cinama had ever shown.

Announcing Columbia's offer yesterday, Mr. G. Jay, Dublin branch manager, said: "We don't know how the rumour started, but it is definitely without foundation."

Mr. Ted Hardiman, managing director, Egan Film Service, Ltd., and Mr. Formby's agent in Ireland, who distributed the boycotted picture, told an Irish Times reporter that Mr. Formby had broadcast only three times this year—once from his house, once from Belfast, where he was entertaining the troops, and once last Sunday week, after the rumours had been circulated. He had heard all these broadcasts, and in none of them had any slighting references been made to this country. "I was speaking to him over the 'phone some days ago, and I have never heard him so worried in my life," he said. "It is a diabolical suggestion to make, for George has a legion of friends over here."

Mr. Formby's parents are Irish, and he served his apprenticeship as a jockey at the Curragh.

FUEL RATIONING IN BRITAIN

CRITICISM OF SCHEME

Coal, coke, gas, electricity and paraffin for domestic use are to be rationed in Britain, as from June, by "points," and there will be a ration for each person in addition to an allowance for every house. Mr. Dalton, President of the Board of Trade, said the scheme would reduce domestic consumption of coal by 10,000,000 tons a year.

When the scheme was announced in the House of Commons yesterday by the President of the Board of Trade it was given a critical reception, states the Lobby Correspondent of the Press Association.

Replying to a suggestion of Earl Winterton, that the House should be considered in the case of such an enormous and momentous change, the Foreign Secretary (Mr. Eden) said the suggestion would be borne in mind.

Members wanted to debate the plan before it was known in detail, and a discussion may take place at the adjournment. The objection has been raised that there is now little to debate until the details of the scheme are decided.

Some doubt if final details will be settled satisfactorily owing to the difficulty of finding a workable scheme. Another course would be for Mr. Dalton to publish Sir William Beveridge's report on fuel rationing. Although he is considering whether this shall be done, there is the objection that the Government might not adopt all Sir William's recommendations, whereas to publish them might imply agreement with them.

The 10,000,000 tons estimated to be saved is a small figure in relation to the annual output of 250,000,000 tons. Behind any rationing Order would be the threat that supplies would be cut off if quotas were exceeded, but exceptions would have to be made in innumerable ways. Where day and night workers lived in the same house requiring heating and cooking arrangements at different periods extra allowances would presumably have to be given.

LIFEBOAT CREW RESCUE

The Royal National Lifeboat Institution has made rewards of £21 13s. to the Kilmore quay (Wexford) lifeboat crew for bringing ashore a sick man from a light vessel. A gale was blowing, with a heavy sea running, and it was only with the greatest difficulty that the man was lowered in his hammock into the lifeboat.

ENGLISH COAST BOMBED

A few bombs fell near a South of England coast town last night, causing neither casualties nor damage. A raider dropped a single high explosive bomb in another Southern district. No casualties were reported.

U.S. WATCHES NEW FRENCH REGIME

SPANISH COMMENT ON SITUATION

REPORTS that M. Laval is planning to clarify Franco-American relations brought this comment from Mr. Cordell Hull, United States Secretary of State:—"The situation now calls for a more emphatic and acute statement of policy on the part of the United States."

American policy toward the French régime remains on "a day-to-day basis," he said. He indicated that the Government's decisions would depend on future developments, including the reaction of the French people to M. Laval's Ministry.

The State Department has protested to France against negotiations between Japan and the French High Commissioner in Indo-China for the transference of French shipping to the Japanese. The State Department said that it had received no word that French merchantmen in Indo-Chinese waters had been turned over to Japan. Several weeks ago the United States Government notified France that a reported Franco-Japanese arrangement for the transfer would constitute effective aid to the enemy.—(Reuter and Associated Press.)

DIPLOMAT RESIGNS

WASHINGTON, Tuesday.—M. Leon Marchal, Counsellor at the French Embassy in Washington, resigned this morning, following M. Laval's speech.—(Reuter.)

SPANISH COMMENT

MADRID, Tuesday. — "Marshal Pétain is right in giving power to M. Laval," said Señor Suner, the Spanish Foreign Minister, in an interview reported in A.B.C. That "intelligent and very French solution" proved that at last "France has understood that she has wasted the whole winter, during which she expected day after day that the Russians would destroy the German Army."

Describing the Red Army's "local and sporadic successes" as being "without the slightest decisive importance," Señor Suner recalled General Franco's Seville declaration: "If the great German bulwark should be unable to hold back the tremendous Russian peril, Spain would help her not with fifteen thousand, but with a million men."—(Reuter.)

ITALIAN CLAIMS

BERNE, Tuesday.—The Italian Press is stressing that M. Laval's return to power will not mean that Italy relinquishes her territorial claims against France. Il Nizzardo, a new Rome newspaper, says:—"The French are making a great mistake if they think that by more intimate collaboration with the Axis they will get more favourable peace terms from Italy."—(Reuter.)

EXCHEQUER LOSSES

TRADE LOANS ACT

An account laid on the table of the Oireachtas yesterday shows that up to March 31 last the total amount issued from the Central Fund in fulfilment of guarantees given by the Minister for Industry and Commerce under the Trade Loans (Guarantee) Acts was £389,910 in respect of principal and interest. The total repaid to the Exchequer was £55,989.

Peat Fuel Co., Ltd., in 1934, was guaranteed a loan of £90,000, in respect of which £89,265 was issued from the Central Fund. The total amount repaid to the Exchequer was £1,422.

Cloyne Clay Co. was guaranteed four loans totalling £28,000 (£28,076 from the Central Fund). The amount repaid was £3,545.

O'Brien Brothers, Ltd.—Amount guaranteed, £15,000 (£15,439 from the Central Fund). Amount repaid, £15,000.

Sioda Teoranta.—Amount guaranteed, £10,000 (£6,208 from the Central Fund). £1,714 was remitted by the company and lodged to Suspense Account pending agreement on certain matters.

WAGES TRIBUNALS

PANELS TO BE SET UP

Emergency Powers (No. 166) Order, 1942 (First Amendment) Order, 1942, which was made by the Government yesterday, provides for the setting up of panels of ordinary members of the Tribunals under Emergency Powers (No. 166) Order, 1942. One of the panels, called the workmen's panel, will consist of persons nominated by trade unions of workmen, and bodies representative of such trade unions, whilst the other will consist of persons nominated by trade unions of masters, and bodies representative of such trade unions or of industry.

The panels will be similar to those provided for in Section 22 of the Trade Union Act, 1941. Section 22 of the Trade Union Act, 1941, however, cannot come into operation earlier than the 1st November, 1942, and the present Order has been made to enable the Minister to allow the Tribunals provided for under Emergency Powers (No. 166) Order, 1942, to function at the earliest possible date.

GERMAN AIR CLAIMS

BERLIN, Tuesday.—To-day's German High Command communiqué states:—"Light German bombers yesterday, during the day, attacked railway installations on the English south coast with bombs and machine-guns. A single British aircraft which undertook a harassing flight last night into the Reich territory was shot down in Southern Germany."—(Reuter.)

German radio has claimed that 79 British 'planes were destroyed over the occupied Channel coast and Germany between April 13 and 18 for a loss of eight German 'planes.—(Associated Press.)

BRITISH WORK CONDITIONS

The British Ministry of Labour has taken up the question of recent attacks on Irish workers in Britain by Sir Percy Hurd, Mr. J. Gordon, Minister of Labour, stated in the House of Commons, Belfast, yesterday. He also said that if necessary he would raise the matter again with the British authorities.

Mr. McGurk (Nat., Mid-Tyrone) asked if the Minister was aware that in many places in Britain Irish workers had no facilities for bathing, and sanitary conditions were very bad.

Mr. Gordon said that conditions in wartime could not be perfect. Welfare officers attached to the British Ministry of Labour looked after the welfare of the workers. On previous occasions when he had made representations to the British Government about the welfare of the workers they were sympathetically received.

"INDIA NEED NOT FEAR"

VICTORY ONLY MATTER OF TIME, WAVELL SAYS

"WE have a difficult and dangerous period ahead, and my responsibility to you is heavy," declared General Sir Archibald Wavell, Commander-in-Chief, India, in a broadcast yesterday at New Delhi.

"I can assure you," he said, "of these things—of the realisation by the Allied nations of danger to India, and the importance of India to the general war effort, of their resolution to send aid to the Indian people, and to defend India to the utmost, of their unshakable will to fight on to the end. Nothing can stop us winning the war, but defeatism or unreasoning panic may hinder or delay victory. We have nothing to fear.

AIR ATTACK

"The immediate danger is air attack, but it is not in the power of the Japanese to bring air attack against the cities of India on anything approaching the scale in intensity or continuity of the German attack on Britain, or our air attack on Germany. I was in Singapore only a few days before its surrender, when it had been experiencing continuous raiding for some time at the maximum scale which the Japanese could bring to bear—a far heavier scale than the enemy can yet bring against any target in India. Yet Singapore had few scars, and there were few casualties, military or civilian, despite inadequate defences. The same is true of Rangoon.

"Our defences by fighter aircraft and A.-A. guns are already in the most threatened quarters of India, strong enough to cause Japanese raiders heavier loss than they have yet suffered elsewhere. Our defence is growing in strength almost daily and expanding over India. It is much stronger than it was even a few weeks ago, and completely different from our comparative defencelessness against air attack a few months ago. Before very long it will be much stronger still.

INVASION DANGER

"A less immediate danger, though a real one, is the prospect of invasion by sea and land. Until the united nations have sea power to drive the Japanese from the Indian Ocean—a time that may not be so far distant—a landing somewhere on the coast may be attempted by the enemy. India will be defended by a powerful air striking force which will attack enemy ships as they approach, and by a land striking force which will concentrate rapidly against any threatening point. The Japanese may raid India. They may even seek to occupy a portion of it temporarily, but as long as India remains true to herself she can never be conquered."

"So you need not worry about our victory," he said in conclusion. "It is only a question of work and time."—(Reuter.)

ROOSEVELT'S MESSAGE

Colonel Louis Johnson, President Roosevelt's personal envoy conveying greetings from the President and people of America to the Indian nation, said: "There is not a thing in all this fine country that we in America covet at all. Look at our record in Cuba. See how we handled the Philippines. America, as the greatest self-contained nation in the world, understands that the happiness of India and her prosperity mean happiness for America and prosperity in America."

JAPANESE OFFICERS TO BE TRIED

BOMBING RAID SEQUEL

LOS ANGELES, Tuesday.—Commanders of Japanese home defence units will be court-martialled as a result of Saturday's bomb raid, says the Japanese radio, which adds: "There will also be a further shake-up in the Tokyo War Office."

Air raid warnings were sounded in areas in West and Central Japan, states a Tokyo telegram to the German News Agency. The all-clear was sounded in Central Japan about 5 p.m.

Ministers of State submitted detailed reports at a Cabinet meeting to-day on the damage caused in Saturday's air raid.—(Reuter.)

Wednesday.—A denial of an Italian report, that the American 'planes which bombed Japanese towns had their bases on Soviet territory, is given by the Tass Agency, quoted by Moscow Radio.—(Reuter.)

BOGUS REPORT TO MINISTER

That the prosecution was based on a bogus report sent to the Minister for Supplies with a "doctored" receipt was the defence in a prosecution at Ballyhaunis (Mayo), in which a local merchant was charged with selling a quarter-pound of tea for 2s. 6d.

Kelly Flanagan admitted getting a quarter-pound of tea from defendant when paying an account of £30 for building materials, but denied having paid anything for the tea, or that he got a receipt or reported the alleged overcharge to the Minister.

Dismissing the case, District Justice Hamilton said some evilly-disposed person had written the Minister complaining about the overcharge, but the Minister had enough to do besides dealing with bogus complaints. He hoped the matter would be further investigated.

Mr. Thornton, State Solicitor, undertook that it would.

WAR COUNCIL OPTIMISM

WASHINGTON, Tuesday.—Optimism over the progress being made by the Allies in the conduct of the war was expressed by representatives of the Pacific War Council, after their fourth meeting with President Roosevelt at the White House. A report was made by Mr. Harry Hopkins on his London mission.

Dr. Soong, Chinese Foreign Minister, said: "We are progressing. We heard a report from Mr. Hopkins, and everyone seems more cheerful."

Mr. McCarthy, Canadian Minister, said: "I think we all agree that we are getting places."

Dr. Loudon, Netherlands Minister, described Mr. Hopkins's report as "very interesting and most encouraging."—(Reuter.)

THE ROAD TO THE HILLS

By a Special Correspondent.

THE 3rd Battalion of the Construction Corps are at present working at top speed in an effort to have six miles of road from the Dublin boundary to Sally Gap, Co. Wicklow, ready for this year's turf harvesters and for post-war tourists.

With the one-time reformatory at Glencree as their headquarters, they are taking the stretch step by step, blasting, trenching and surfacing. Each youth is given a certain section of road, a certain job, and a certain time in which to complete it. More often than not he finishes well ahead of schedule.

Their day is divided into two shifts—one from eight in the morning until one. Then comes an hour for dinner, and then the second party, who have spent the morning drilling on the square, and in the excellently equipped gymnasium, a relic of the reform school, take over. After dinner the first road party have P.T. until 4.30. Road workers, too, are divided into two parties. One section breaks boulders blasted from the nearby quarry, and loads them on to lorries. The rest dig trenches for these boulders, put them in position, and cover them with heather. Then comes the surfacing, and soon they will have a county council steam roller to help them with this job.

Off duty these lads turn the gym., which a few hours ago had been the scene of their P.T., into Madison Square Gardens, and hold Golden Gloves tournaments. Prizes are not dollars, but cigarettes, bought with pennies contributed by themselves. Their average age is eighteen, but, judging from appearance, many must have just attained the minimum age. Volunteer O'Leary, who heaves bricks with the best of them on the roads, is an ardent boxer—but is so small that it is hard to find him an opponent.

MILK PRICES

A deputation from the Dublin District Milk Distributors' Association, headed by Mr. G. S. McInerney, chairman, interviewed officials of the Department of Supplies yesterday regarding proposed retail prices of milk in Dublin during the season 1942-43. The deputation was informed that the prices suggested by the Association would be given consideration.

30 FRENCHMEN TO DIE

LONDON, Tuesday.—An official German statement, broadcast by Paris Radio, confirms that thirty hostages are to be shot immediately as a reprisal for the derailment of an express train on the Amiens-Cherbourg line on April 16. According to this statement, a further eighty persons are to be shot "if the guilty persons are not identified within three days." The hours of curfew in the department concerned are to be lengthened, and places of entertainment will be closed and a ban on sports and demonstrations imposed. The announcement adds that a further 1,000 persons will be removed to labour camps, if the guilty parties are not found.—(Reuter.)

ENVOY'S WIFE DEAD

VICHY, Tuesday.—Mrs. Leahy, wife of Admiral Leahy, United States Ambassador to France, has died following a recent operation. Admiral Leahy, who has been recalled to the United States for consultation, had been awaiting his wife's recovery before leaving for Washington.—(Reuter.)

Mr. Derrig, Minister for Lands, told Mr. D. McMenamin (F.G., Donegal), in the Dail yesterday, that the arrears of land purchase annuities outstanding on March 1, 1942, amounted to £948,312. The number of nulla bona returns held by the Land Commission for unpaid annuities up to and including 1st February, 1942, was £2,564.

RED PRESSURE ON TWO FRONTS

MORE GAINS AGAINST FINNS

MOSCOW, Tuesday. — Strong Russian attacks continue in Finland and on the Central front, where General Zhukov's deep lunge from the north-east is pressing towards Smolensk.

Finnish reports say that north-east of Leningrad, and along the Svir River, where the main Russian effort apparently is being directed against the Syvari Power Station, at the Ladoga end of the line, the Red Army attacks are the heaviest of the whole war. Already some observers are doubting the ability of the Finns, supported by several German divisions on this front—to hold the Stalin Canal line in face of prolonged pressure, but Russian reports at present indicate no more than a steadily developing operation, in which the Finns are suffering local reverses and heavy losses.

On the Central Front heavy guns are supporting General Zhukov's advance, and thence away south to the Crimea, the initiative remains in Russian hands.

A feature of the day's news from the Eastern Front was a daring attack by 'planes of the Baltic Red Fleet Air Arm upon a German aerodrome, where 15 Junkers bombers were destroyed on the ground.

The Red Army's progress through the thawing battlefields of the Northern and Kalinin fronts continues.

General Zhukov's deep lunge westward from the Valdai Hills, and beyond the softening marshlands around Kholm, is steadily battering its way towards Pskov and the Esthonian frontier. "The hour is close at hand," says Pravda, "when the Red Army will tear the fetters from Pskov."

German reservists are being rushed in trainloads through the town on their way to the front.—(Press Association and Reuter.)

STOCKHOLM, Tuesday. — Strong Soviet forces, supported by the latest types of tanks, are attacking on the Svir front between Lakes Ladoga and Onega, according to Helsinki reports. The possibility of a prolonged Finnish resistance near the Stalin Canal, which follows the line of the Svir River and the Syvari hydro-electric plant, is, they consider, somewhat dubious.

The Red Army is attacking on the central front under cover of an artillery bombardment, according to Axis reports. In a sea of slush and mud, following the thaw, operations are difficult, and the German forces are moving in swampy forest areas.—(Reuter.)

RED GENERAL KILLED

A claim that General Yefremov, commander of the 33rd Soviet Army, was found among the dead after a German attack on the central front is made by German Radio.—(Reuter.)

General Yefremov has been frequently mentioned in Soviet war front despatches.

EXPLOSION IN TIN OF NAIL POLISH

GIRL LOSES SIGHT OF ONE EYE

Miss Mary O'Brien, St. Brigid's avenue, North Strand, Dublin, opened a tin of nail polish, and there was an explosion which so damaged her right eye that it had to be removed.

An action, taken by her mother, Mrs. Mary O'Brien, against Messrs. Woolworth, Ltd., arising out of the accident, was settled, it was announced in the Circuit Court yesterday, for £150 and £25 costs.

Mr. T. O'Dell (instructed by Messrs. William Mooney and Sons), for the plaintiff, said that there was a small percentage of cellular matter in the polish, and it was liable to explode if opened near a fire.

Messrs. A. Cox and Co. appeared for the defendants.

N B B L PLACARDS

N B B L placards are now on display in Kilmacthomas, Kilrossanty, Stradbally, Bonmahon, Kill, Newtown, Ballylaneen and Clonea-Lower—all in the mid-Waterford area. The number of members in this district is growing daily. Mr. Nicholas Power, Fahafeelagh, a well-known breeder of thoroughbred live stock, said to an Irish Times representative:—"Every normally healthy man and woman in the twenty-six counties who can possibly do so should belong to the League. Those who are faithfully living up to its policy are acting in the very best interests of the community."

RECIPE A DAY.

Light Potato Pie.—Ingredients—5 large potatoes, 2 tablespoons cheese, 2 ozs. butter, chopped parsley, pepper and salt, 2 eggs. Mix together mashed potatoes, half of cheese, chopped parsley, pepper and salt. Add beaten yolks and melted butter, and fold in beaten whites. Put into greased pie-dish, sprinkle cheese on top. Bake in fairly hot oven for twenty minutes.

ARE YOU IN N B B L?

Have you joined the League yet? If not, will you do so to-day? Write to N B B L, Irish Times, Dublin, enclosing stamped and addressed envelope, and the badge will be sent you free by return. Or call at this office for your badge.

BRITISH 'PLANE CRASH

BERLIN, Tuesday.—A British 'plane of the Blenheim type crashed in the Province of Huelva, South-West Spain, states a Madrid despatch. The machine was destroyed and the pilot and radio operator killed. Other members of the crew, who baled out, have not yet been discovered.—(Reuter.)

VEGETABLE SEEDS ORDER

The Government proposes making an Order prohibiting the importation of certain vegetable seeds, except under licence. The reason, it is explained, is that, in view of the difficulty of securing adequate supplies of seeds, a number of firms have made arrangements for home production. The Order will operate on and from September 1st next.

SECRET BRITISH WAR DEBATE

Mr. Anthony Eden, Foreign Secretary, yesterday told the House of Commons that the debate on the third sitting day on the war situation would be in secret session. Asked about the possibility of continuing the debate in public, he said: "I would like the House first of all to hear what the Prime Minister has to say in secret session, and it will then be for consideration what will happen afterwards."

JAPANESE PUSHED BACK

CHINESE FREE 7,000 BRITISH TROOPS

CHINESE troops have pushed the Japanese back three miles in a new attack south of Yenaungyaung, the recaptured West Burma oilfields capital, while 120 miles to the south-east Allied troops are fighting two other battles for the defence of Mandalay.

In one of these engagements Chinese and Japanese troops are at grips near Pyinmana, a key town on the main Rangoon-Mandalay Railway, 55 miles north of Toungoo. Seven miles to the west of this town, on the Sittang River, fighting is also in progress at Lewi, on a strategic branch line of the main Mandalay system.

BRITISH WITHDRAW

The Burma communique states:—

"Irrawaddy Front. — Considerable success attended the action mentioned in yesterday's communique. As a result of a joint action in the Yenangyaung area by our armoured forces and Chinese troops, which gave excellent support, our main forces in that sector were able to withdraw across the Pinchaung. The Chinese forces are now in occupation of Yenangyaung, and no further action there is reported by them

"Chinese Expeditionary Force.—Reinforced Japanese forces in Bawlake-Loikaw area are exerting heavy pressure on our troops, which is being met with stubborn resistance. The American volunteer group shot down one Japanese 'plane over a northern airport yesterday."

CHINESE ADVANCE

CHUNGKING, Tuesday. — Chinese forces have driven the Japanese back a distance of three miles to the south of Yenangyaung, according to the Chungking military spokesman. On the Sittang front, he says, Chinese and Japanese forces are engaged around Pyinmana, key town on the Rangoon-Mandalay railway. Fighting is also in progress at Lewi, seven miles west of Pyinmana. Fighting is also in progress at Bawlake, 60 miles north-east of Toungoo.

When Chinese troops recaptured Yenangyaung they freed 7,000 British troops and 100 trucks, which the Japanese had surrounded, the spokesman added. The successful Chinese attack was launched on the receipt of a British request, when the Japanese had captured Yenangyaung, and had reached a point seven miles north of the oilfields. There they had encircled British transport, armoured vehicles and infantry units.—(Reuter.)

U.S. WITHDRAWAL

WASHINGTON, Tuesday.—"Heavy Japanese artillery fire on the United States-Filipino forts, at the entrance to Manila Bay, slackened somewhat yesterday," says the War Department communiqué. "Damage inflicted was not great. Dive-bomber attacks were made on Fort Hughes and Fort Drum, but no damage or casualties are reported.

"On the Island of Panay heavy Japanese attacks forced United States troops to withdraw from two positions, but they are continuing their resistance, and exacting a heavy toll in Japanese casualties."—(Reuter.)

BOMBED IN ERROR

NEW YORK, Tuesday.—Mistaking her for an enemy vessel, Australian war 'planes attacked the United States destroyer, Peary, near Darwin, and scored a hit on the after deck, according to a broadcast by the Columbia broadcasting system. "The ship, though frantically signalling, did not fire back at the Allies, who honestly believed the vessel was an enemy one. Finally, a bomb fell on the after deck, setting fire to ammunition. . . . The Peary limped into Darwin, where repairs were practically completed, when the Japanese bombed and sank her."—(The Associated Press.)

U.S. CRUISER SUNK

According to a Domei report quoted by the German Radio, Japanese reconnaissance 'planes sighted three American auxiliary cruisers seeking to escape from Manila Bay. After one had been sunk and the second damaged, the third vessel turned back, it was claimed.—(The Associated Press.)

SHIPS TORPEDOED

WASHINGTON, Tuesday. — During recent operations near the Island of Cebu, in the Philippines, units of an American motor torpedo-boat squadron made a night attack on a Japanese cruiser, which was protected by four destroyers, says a War Department communiqué. Japanese counter-action finally forced retirement of the United States boats, after they had seriously damaged one enemy light cruiser and left it in a sinking condition. One United States boat was forced ashore on the Island of Cebu, but the other made good its escape. The Navy Department also announces that two merchantmen, one a small United States ship, and the other a medium-sized Norwegian vessel, have been torpedoed off the Atlantic coast. Survivors have been landed at the east coast and Gulf of Mexico ports. A medium-sized Panamanian merchantman has been torpedoed off the Atlantic coast, and survivors landed at an east coast port.

The Argentine Foreign Office announced that the Argentine tanker, Victoria (12,500 tons), was in difficulties because of serious damage. A message from the Argentine Embassy in Washington said that it was presumed that the Victoria was torpedoed or had struck a mine.—(Associated Press.)

JAPANESE ENVOY TO VATICAN

STATEMENT IN BRITISH COMMONS

Mr. R. K. Law (Under-Secretary, Foreign Office), in the House of Commons yesterday, told Sir William Davison (Conservative) that before the decision to receive a Japanese Envoy was announced by the Holy See, His Majesty's Government made it clear that the appointment would be widely interpreted as being the result of Axis pressure and condonation of Japan's treacherous and unprovoked attack. The Vatican had replied that negotiations had been opened in 1922, and that it was decided to establish diplomatic relations in order to safeguard the spiritual interests of the Roman Catholic order, and should not be regarded as connected with temporal interests, or in any way due to outside pressure.

Sir William Davison asked—As such actual recognition did not occur until recently, was the Vatican's attention drawn to Japan's action in making war against America while peace negotiations were in progress, and to the terrible barbarity perpetrated by their forces contrary to all international law?

Mr. Law—Yes; attention was drawn to these matters.

It was announced in the Dail yesterday that Deputy R. Mulcahy had taken the place of Deputy Eamonn O'Neill as a member of the Committee of Procedure and Privileges.

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL SOCIETY

The new President of the Council of Ireland addressed the members of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul for the first time since his election, at the quarterly general meeting, held in the Mansion House, Dublin, on Sunday last. A Dublin man, in his early thirties, he is a grandson of one of the nineteen men who constituted the first Saint Vincent de Paul Conference in Dublin in 1844. In the course of his address the new president paid a warm tribute to the work of his predecessor, who for 25 years had presided over the affairs of the society and had seen it through trying times. He said that the goal of the society was noble and most worthy of attainment. The first essential in that great work was to complete and finalise the spirit of true friendship between the members of the society and the families of the poor, to whom it was their privilege to minister.

The Rev. Leonard Gallagher, S.J., presided.

Rural Rivalries

When the Government issued a call for the formation of emergency parish councils, we drew attention to the danger that these temporary bodies might become confused with the permanent parish councils which had developed under the auspices of Muintir na Tire. In order to avoid such confusion, we urged that the word "parish" should be excluded from the title of the emergency bodies which were formed to co-operate with the Government's eight regional emergency Commissioners. Furthermore, we foresaw the danger that identity of nomenclature might tend to identify movements, whose essential aims had little in common, and even might become antagonistic. Our fears have been realised. Muintir na Tire, faithful to its policy of voluntary effort, free of official control, now finds itself in open conflict with a body which claims to represent parish councils throughout the counties of Leinster. Not only does such an assumption of title and function suggest its promoters' desire to supersede Muintir na Tire as the central organ of parish councils, but it is alleged that one of its purposes is to convert voluntary committees into official instruments of local administration. Consequently, there now is an open rupture, which inevitably must tend to shake public confidence in the prospects and values of parish organisation. At any time such a split would be deplorable. At this juncture, when the maximum of co-operative effort is necessary to increase the country's food reserves, a grave responsibility rests on the shoulders of any person or organisation whose action is inspired by thoughts of personal prestige or sectional amour propre. Even political ambitions which might be respected in normal conditions ought now to be submerged in self-denying efforts to safeguard community interests. The time will come to settle differences of opinion between the voluntary doctrines of Muintir na Tire and of those who believe that the parish council should become an integral part of the machinery of government. Few things could be more futile—or, indeed, more impertinent—than efforts to precipitate such issues in hours of grave national emergency. Apart from such obvious considerations, there are the facts that Mr. de Valera has expressed his unqualified approval of Muintir na Tire's policy and methods, and that legislation has been so framed as to encourage parish councils to co-operate in the business of local government. In such circumstances, the duty of citizens obviously is to reinforce, rather than to obstruct, the efforts of the Rev. Father Hayes and his colleagues.

Consistently with that support, there is no reason why efforts should not be made more fully to adapt the parish council movement to the present and prospective needs of the community. While this newspaper has praised the spirit, and in general the methods, of Muintir na Tire, we have not hesitated to indicate certain directions in which its influence might be extended and reinforced. We are convinced, for instance, that much would be gained if the organisation—without sacrifice of its definitely rural aims and outlook—could be induced to develop an urban wing to its activities. We are persuaded that valuable opportunities have been lost already for lack of effective co-operation between rural and urban councils. Indeed, it may be possible to trace the present "split" to the absence of some such co-operative link between country and city. Our suggestion that Muintir na Tire's principles of organisation could usefully be applied to city conditions rests, however, on other than emergency considerations. It is based on the conviction that something must be done to fill the ever-widening gap between the citizen and the authorities of municipal government—something that will balance, and will counteract, the dangers that are inherent in the system of managerial control. In a recent broadcast Mr. G. H. O. Cole—a recognised leader in social and civic studies—expressed his conviction that something analogous to Muintir na Tire's parish council was necessary to preserve democratic government from the rapid onward march of municipal bureaucracies. Freely recognising "the need for large units for many purposes," he demurred to the view that large and small units cannot exist side by side, but he added: "In relation to certain major services, the function of the small unit must be one of criticism and demand, not of administration." Visualising neighbourhood centres as "sources of strength and reality to the democratic spirit," he had reached the conclusion that "the little group, with small but important practical jobs to do, is the only sure foundation on which the greater democracy can be built." May we commend these thoughts to the Council of Muintir na Tire and to those who are responsible for its rival movement? In the search for practical solutions for such real problems, room can be found for superabundant energies and for many schools of constructive thought.

The End of a Chapter

The time for the abandonment of private cars is drawing very near: three-quarters of them will have disappeared from the roads of the twenty-six counties within another ten days. An occasional two-seater or five-seater will be permitted to wend its way; it will belong to a Minister of State, a leader of the Opposition, an official of the Government or of a local authority who cannot carry out his duties without the aid of a car, a judge attending his court—if public transport is unsuitable—a senator or member of the Dail from a country constituency, the representative of a foreign country, a clergyman, a doctor, a veterinary surgeon, a midwife, or, perhaps, a transport official. These people alone will be granted permits to drive private cars. The restrictions will mean a great difference not only to the appearance of our Irish roads and streets, but also to the comfort, convenience and established routine of many thousands of people. Motoring holidays will become a thing of the past. There will be no such thing as the week-end in the country. A far more serious consequence, however, will be the addition of a substantial multitude of ex-drivers to the ranks of the tens of thousands who normally pack the railway and omnibus services of the country in general, and of the city of Dublin in particular. These services are over-burdened already. At certain times—"peak periods" in the case of the railways, "rush hours" in the case of the 'bus services—they were over-burdened even before the war brought stringency and shortages; but the situation has become worse since then, and threatens to become worse still in the very near future. There is small likelihood of obtaining more or better coal for the restoration of the railway services to anything like their pre-war quality, and any hope that may have existed of an improvement in the country's quota of petrol and oil has been offset by the realisation that no rubber is available to replenish the country's rapidly diminishing stock of tyres. In other words, there is less public transport than at any time in the past twenty years, while the abandonment of private motoring—which includes motoring by commercial travellers and other semi-professional drivers—will mean a considerably greater demand upon what there is. That is one disability of the new restrictions. Another, as we fear, will be perceptible when Mr. Sean T. O'Kelly introduces his Budget next month, and seeks new means to compensate for the substantial lack of revenue which in normal years would have been contributed in the form of road tax and petrol duties. Facts, however, are facts. It is not the fault of anybody in this country that there is not enough petrol, or that the supply of tyres is insufficient, to keep private cars on the roads and to keep the public transport services at their old efficiency. These restrictions must be accepted as part of the price that Ireland, in common with the rest of the world, must pay for the privilege of living in these times. They will mean a wholesale readjustment of the lives of many thousands of people; they will involve genuine hardship for many and inconvenience for most; but let us repeat—platitude or no platitude—that things might be worse.

Fitzgerald, C.C., officiated. The best man was Mr. John Young (brother of the bridegroom), and the bridesmaid was Miss E. Murphy (cousin of the bride).

COMPENSATING IRISH SEAMEN

Mr. Lemass told Mr. J. A. Costello (F.G., Dublin Townships), in the Dail, that it was proposed to deal with the matter of compensation to seamen, belonging to Irish registered ships, injured through belligerent action, and their dependants, in the event of death through such action, by an Order under the Emergency Powers Act, 1939. In all cases, up to the present, in which crews of Irish ships had suffered through belligerent action, pensions and grants had been awarded to seamen, widows and other dependants on the same scale as that applicable in the case of seamen on ships registered in the United Kingdom. The moneys for the purpose were provided in the Marine Service Vote.

SECRET SESSION PROTEST

On Mr. Beattie (Socialist) moving a resolution in the Northern Ireland House of Commons yesterday, calling for a reorganisation of war production in the Six Counties, the Government refused to have it discussed in public. Mr. Beattie then withdrew the motion and accused the Government of using fifth column methods to keep from the public things they ought to know.

When the motion was called, Sir M. Stronge, Chief Whip, cried: "I spy strangers!"

The Premier, Mr. J. M. Andrews, said the Government was not afraid of anything the Opposition might say, and had nothing to be ashamed of; but they had to safeguard the position from the national point of view.

POLO GROUND PLOTS

The Polo ground in the Phœnix Park this year will be under crops. The Dublin Corporation has obtained the permission of the Board of Works and the All Ireland Polo Club to go ahead with their scheme of cutting the ground up into allotments. The scheme was interrupted by the necessity for obtaining the consent of the Board and the Club, but the work of cutting the ground up into plots will be resumed in the next day or two.

THE GATE THEATRE

"The United Brothers," which is being retained for the third week at the Gate Theatre, Dublin, is the story of John and Henry Sheares. The play is produced by Lady Longford. The chief actors are Ronald Ibbs, Hamlyn Benson, Maureen Halligan, Nora O'Mahony, Cathleen Delaney and Michael Ripper.

LATE BISHOP McNEICE

At Christ Church Cathedral, Waterford, yesterday, a muffled peal was rung for several minutes on the Cathedral bells in respect to the memory of the late Right Rev. Dr. McNeice, Bishop of Down and Connor, who was Bishop of Cashel and Emly, Waterford and Lismore from 1931 to 1934.

IN EVENT OF EVACUATION

Mr. Lemass, Minister for Supplies, told Dr. J. Hannigan (Lab., Dublin, S.), in the Dail yesterday, that no person would be entitled to use a private car after May 1, without a permit. In the event of an emergency evacuation, the movement of persons and cars on the public road would be controlled by the appropriate authority.

A GAELIC MADONNA

Something of the spirit of Padraig Mac Piarais and Padraig O Conaire must have been moving in Daithi and Sighle Greene when they wrote the one-act play "An Dealbh," produced at the Peacock last night in the triple bill presented by An Comhar Dramuiochta. A young sculptor has been commissioned by his parish to give them a piece of work of the conventional kind. But it is not the conventional Maighdean Bheannuighthe that his genius compels him to turn out. It is the child of his visions, and to the men and women of the parish it is a woman of the roads who, indeed, has been the sculptor's model, but she is indeed none the less the Madonna of truth as of the sculptor's art here.

Surprisingly, and not very effectively, the drama ends too suddenly, with what to them seems victory for the parishioners. Maoileasa Mac Fhionnlaoich's sculptor was a worthy interpretation, well supported by Seamus Mac Gollarnath as the understanding curate, and Eamonn O Dubhthaigh as the more irate, yet understandable parish priest. Nighean Ui Choileain made a "Bean" that fitted the authors' idea of the part. The players were the Craobh na gCuig gCuigi group.

"Cinnte," presented by Craobh na h-Aiseirghe, which preceded "An Dealbh," was a comedy of rather mediocre quality, not altogether of the author at his best—Padraig O Broithe—but partly redeemed by the acting of Eibhlin Ni Bhuachalla, Monica Ni Mhurchadha and Padraig O h-Uiginn.

Labhras Mac Bradaigh's submarine tragedy, "Ca bhFios Dúinn?" presented by Craobh Moibhi, completed the programme.

ARCHITECTURAL COMPETITIONS

The announcement of a competition for designs for municipal buildings in Dublin was very good news for architects, said Mr. Gerald McNicholl, retiring president, in the course of his address last night at the annual general meeting of the Architectural Association of Ireland at 8 Merrion square, Dublin.

There was, he said, no better method of obtaining good designs than by competition, and he hoped that the scheme would be extended to a much wider class of buildings—for example, to large schools, hospitals, town plans, housing schemes, libraries, and, in particular, to the bigger churches and ecclesiastical buildings.

Speaking about the shortage of building materials, Mr. McNicholl advocated the control of building materials in conjunction with a national plan for the building industry, with the constant advice of technical experts. In very many cases concrete walls should be replaced by masonry walls; that would achieve a very great saving in the use of cement during the emergency.

He mentioned that the membership of the Association was 180 which, he thought, was the highest ever they had had.

It was announced that the Downes bronze medal for measured work had been won by Mr. D. Featherstone; and that Mr. V. B. Gallagher had been awarded second prize in the R.I.A.I. and A.A.I. combined competition for design.

Mr. A. E. Williams was elected president, Mr. C. D. O'Toole vice-president, Mr. Alan H. Hope honorary treasurer, Mr. H. S. Robson honorary librarian, and Mr. J. P. Alcock and Mr. J. G. Butler honorary secretaries.

REUNION OF FIGHTERS FOR INDEPENDENCE

The Lord Mayor of Dublin will preside at the dinner to be held in the Gresham Hotel on Thursday, 30th April, at which old comrades who served in the Volunteers, Sinn Fein, and other organisations allied in the fight for Irish Independence during the years 1916-1921 are coming together for a social evening.

The response to the announcement has been remarkably good—it is already in the hundreds—a large number of these citizens now prominent in public, military, professional and business life having signified their intention of being present. Among them is Mr. Oscar Traynor, T.D., Minister for Defence.

While the organising committee have endeavoured to circularise as many as possible of the activists of the period, it is difficult to get in touch with many who might like to be present, chiefly through lack of addresses. Any such person reading this notice, who has not yet received an invitation, should accept this as such, and communicate direct with the honorary secretary, Mr. T. R. Atkins, at 70 South Circular road, Portobello, Dublin ('phone 51426). This should be done immediately, as the names of those attending will be included in a souvenir booklet of the evening, and the printers must have these names at the earliest possible date. Names arriving late will have to be left out.

Ordinary dress or uniform is to be worn.

Guests may bring with them their wives, daughters and lady friends.

An excellent musical programme is being arranged for the evening.

BABY FOOD SAFE

Baby food manufacturers have been informed by the Department of Supplies that they are to receive allocations of barley and oats. This news follows the report in last Wednesday's Irish Times that production of baby food would shortly close down altogether, as manufacturers had come to the end of their stocks.

It is understood that the allocations are for quantities which fall somewhat short of what was expected. The important point, however, is that factories will be enabled to keep going. While the danger position had been passed, one manufacturer said last night, it must be realised that stocks were not as large as they normally would be. A certain mild form of rationing may have to be introduced, and retailers will probably be informed that they cannot look forward to filling their shelves with unlimited quantities of the goods.

LONDON LETTER

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
TUESDAY NIGHT.

THE London County Council has approved the extension of the appointment for another six months at a fee of a thousand guineas of Professor Patrick Abercrombie, who is to prepare provisional plans for re-development of the L.C.C. area. Professor of Town Planning at the University of London since 1935, Professor Abercrombie won his first premium in partnership with Mr. Sydney A. Kelly, F.S.A., many years ago in the international competition for the re-planning of Dublin. With Mr. Manning Robinson, Professor Abercrombie and Mr. Kelly form the team of town planning consultants to the Dublin Corporation. The L.C.C. appointed the professor a little more than a year ago to draw up comprehensive plans for re-development.

Diagnosis

The use of X-ray examination in detecting early cases of pulmonary tuberculosis was approved yesterday by the insurance committee which administers medical benefit for half a million people in Glasgow and is one of the most progressive local administrations in these islands. The committee are determined that more persistent efforts must be made, especially because of the regrettable increase in tuberculosis in young women during war-time, to discover patients in the early stages before they become infectious. The only method of detecting tuberculosis before it produces symptoms is by the X-ray examination of the chest—a simple, painless and rapid process.

Tower Bridge

On a warm afternoon there is no more pleasant spot to browse than near the Tower Bridge, and, as the bascules go up and down, one marvels at the mechanical power necessary to lift them. For more than forty-five years the Tower Bridge has never failed to open. It has opened over 340,000 times since it was completed in 1894. The longest suspension for land traffic in peacetime was about twenty-two minutes, and the shortest a minute and a half. There are twelve thousand tons of steel in the bridge, which cost over a million and a half pounds to put up. It costs £6 a time to open. There is a footbridge for the public 114 feet above water level, but it has not been used since 1909, as the bascules are raised up and down so quickly that by the time pedestrians ascend and descend more time would be lost.

Banking

Lloyd's Bank is typical of the "big five" in having since the outbreak of the war closed some three hundred and sixty offices, some as part of an arrangement with other banks. This policy is dictated by two main objects—to maintain wartime banking service as efficiently as possible in spite of the losses in manpower and to reduce expenses. The experience of the banks in pre-war days, when they amalgamated two of their branches in the same town, has been somewhat disappointing; the hoped-for economy in staff has frequently been found illusory. The combined business required a number of staff not far short of the total of the two separate branches. Before two branches of any size can be amalgamated, one of them has generally to be enlarged to accommodate the other, which frequently prevents any saving in expense on premises.

Fuel Ration

This afternoon's announcement that coal, coke, gas, electricity, and paraffin will be rationed, drove even the war news off the front pages. How Sir William Beveridge's scheme will impose an automatic stop on the consumption of gas or electricity if the ration is used before a ration period ends, has not been announced. It is known, however that each household will have a ration calculated on present needs, and not on previous consumption, and that, in addition, each person will have a personal ration. The personal ration is intended to meet the case of people who move about. Permanent residents at hotels and boarding houses will have to surrender interchangeable fuel "points" in the same way as their food coupons. There will be a bigger proportional cut in fuel for large houses than for small, and supplementary allowances for invalids and business or professional people who work in their own homes. If the ten million tons of coal a year, which is Mr. Dalton's aim, are saved, it will represent a cut of one-eighth in the present domestic consumption.

Heavy Chemicals

The Board of Trade announce that from to-day the control of certain heavy chemicals is withdrawn, and no licences will in future be required to export caustic soda, calcareous cement, salt, sodium bicarbonate, sodium carbonate, sodium silicate, sodium sulphate, chalk, and whiting.

AN IRISHMAN'S DIARY

"Honest Tom Kelly"

A generation ago, when what was distinguished as "Corporation politics" made a special feature of local interest, the late Alderman Kelly was universally known as "Honest Tom Kelly." In later reference to his work, the title has often been re-echoed. Yet few people are now aware of the cicumstances in which it had been first bestowed.

It was after the announcement of the poll in connection with the momentous municipal elections, held in pursuance of the almost revolutionary extension of the franchise, in January, 1898. Out of a number of candidates, including Kelly, who faced the electorate of the Mansion House Ward, an Alderman and three Councillors had to be chosen. The result showed that Tom Kelly had been elected Alderman by one vote in excess of the number cast for Patrick Dowd, who thus became senior Councillor.

The Sheriff was on the point of officially making this declaration, when Kelly jumped up in protest. He had been following the count himself, he stated, and was in a position to prove that an error had been made. Dowd, he said, was the Alderman, not Kelly. At his request, a re-count was then taken, whereupon it was found that his contention was correct. Dowd was then officially declared the duly elected Alderman, with Kelly as senior Councillor.

The incident occasioned a profound impression, and Tom Kelly had his new title shouted at him as soon as he had stepped out of the polling station. Some years afterwards, on the resignation of Alderman Dowd, he was elected to the superior distinction, which he retained until his death.

Regulating the Queues

A race of people which deserves unlimited praise and receives, I am afraid, little but abuse from the general public, is that species composed of cinema and theatre commissionaires United Transport inspectors, policemen and all those who direct queues

There is no harder test of a man's organisational powers than to put him in charge of a queue of angry humans with one object in mind; to "put one across" on the person in front of them

Over the holiday period, and after, I have watched with admiration the way in which queues were controlled; authorities were polite, scrupulously fair, but as firm as rocks, and, although I saw dozens of people trying to slip a "quick one" I never saw anybody succeed.

It is a fine record for a time when queuing is all the rage; it is to be hoped that they will continue the good work when 'buses become scarce and queues longer.

"Make Ireland Exciting"

The recent announcement that the Irish Tourist Association has been equipped with sufficient funds to carry on a publicity campaign for the summer season encourages me to hope that, perhaps, it will devote some of the money to stimulating greater originality in the broadcast programmes.

Last year we listened to some distinguished speakers lauding the beauties of Irish resorts, but this seemed a fairly obvious and rather unsubtle way of interesting listeners. Surely, there must be a dozen different methods of presenting colourful, attractive and exciting programmes which would create a real "appetite" for some of our lovely watering places or our mountain and inland resorts.

I hope the I.T.A. will let us see what it can really do when it makes up its mind!

"For the Armchair Strategist"

In regard to your paragraph in Saturday's issue I think the explanation is that marching in column gradually becomes, from rank to rank, a subconscious movement and, in circumstances, speed gradually diminishes.

Therefore, in the case of a long column of infantry, where each successive rank takes its pace from the rank immediately in front, there is a cumulative loss of speed down the column until, in the rear, the lag is so perceptible that a periodic conscious effort is required to correct it.

The frequency of this conscious effort causes the additional fatigue.

OBITUARY

COLONEL W. BROWN

News has come from India of the death of Colonel William Brown, Indian Army, retired. Educated at Santry School, he entered Trinity College as a Sizar about the year 1895, and later he won a scholarship and graduated with Honours in Mathematics. During his college career he took a keen interest in Rugby football, acting as secretary, and playing for Trinity at a time when the team was regularly winning the Leinster Cup. He played for Ireland about the year 1899, when the home team won against England. In 1900 he joined the British Army and saw service in South Africa during the Boer War. Later he became attached to the Indian Army, but was called back in 1915 to serve in France, in Mesopotamia and Palestine, taking part under General Allenby in the engagements that led to the capture of Jerusalem. On his retirement from the Army he made his home in Dehra Dun, where he ran a very successful school for Indian boys and where he died on the 18th inst.

OWNERSHIP OF PLOT

An agreement was announced before Mr. Justice Black in the High Court, Dublin, yesterday, in the action of William H. Edwards, Adelaide road, Dublin, against Commandant Peter Slattery, Tinode House, Tinode, County Wicklow, concerning the ownership of a plot of unfenced ground at Love lane, North, Dublin. It had been stated that Mr. Edwards bought the plot in 1917, and that Commandant Slattery bought the same plot, from a different vendor, and was given a conveyance. On the plot Commandant Slattery built eight houses, stated to be worth £3,000. Mr. Edwards said that the person who purported to convey the plot to Commandant Slattery had no title, and he claimed a declaration that he was owner and entitled to possession. For the defence it was pleaded that Mr. Edwards had not established title, and that, if ever he had had title, he had lost it by remaining out of possession for more than twelve years.

Mr. McGonigal, K.C., with whom was Mr. Vaughan Wilson (instructed by Messrs. A. Cox and Co.), for Commandant Slattery, now said that an offer had been made by Mr. Edwards, which, in the circumstances of the case, he found bound to accept, not with much enthusiasm. Mr. Edwards had offered to pay Commandant Slattery £300 on his resigning any rights to the property, and paying his own costs, and Commandant Slattery was determined to accept that.

Mr. Kevin Dixon, K.C., who, with Mr. Lavery, K.C., and Mr. Desmond Bell (instructed by Mr. C. Magwood), appeared for Mr. Edwards, said that, while the amount might seem small, Commandant Slattery had collected the rents and profits for eight or nine years, and there was no question of accounting for them.

Answering the Judge, Mr. Dixon said that Mr. Edwards took over the houses as they stood on paying £300 and his own costs.

LAW COURTS

NEWSPAPER SPACE

JUDGE AND THE LEGAL DIARY

Mr. Justice Black, in the High Court, Dublin, yesterday, fixed to-morrow for the resumed hearing of the action of Messrs. Lynch Brothers, Grenville lane, Mountjoy square, Dublin, against Richard J. Kenny, Galros House, Ballinasloe, which claims specific performance of an agreement for the assignment by Mr. Kenny to them of his interest in the Ballinasloe Workhouse. When the case was called yesterday, Mr. Kenny was not present, and it was stated that two telegrams had been received from him inquiring about the listing of the case.

Mr. McGonigal K.C., who, with Mr. J. M. FitzGerald, K.C., and Mr. S. V. Kirwan (instructed by Mr. V. E. Kirwan), appeared for Messrs Lynch Brothers, said that, in the circumstances, he was instructed to ask for judgment.

Mr. Justice Black said that he did not feel disposed to give judgment. Mr. Kenny might have something to say for himself, but he would have to satisfy him that he should not pay the costs of the day, in any event. One thing that struck him in connection with the matter was, said Mr. Justice Black, that not all the newspapers published the Legal Diary. He thought that only one newspaper published it. He knew that newspaper space was cramped, and newspapers knew their own business best, but he thought that the Legal Diary was matter that space would have been found for.

The defence of Mr. Kenny, who had been conducting his own case, was that he was justified in refusing to execute the agreement, because, he said, it was conditional on the approval of the Minister for Local Government and Public Health, and that that approval had not been obtained.

VESTING OF LAND

The Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Murnaghan, Mr. Justice Meredith, Mr. Justice Geoghegan and Mr. Justice O'Byrne, in the Supreme Court, Dublin, yesterday, reserved judgment in the appeal of the Ulster Bank, Ltd., from a judgment of the High Court holding that land of Hugh Reilly at Aughavore, County Leitrim, had been vested in the English Trustee in Bankruptcy on the adjudication of the owner as a bankrupt in England. The Bankruptcy Judge had held that the relevant sections of the English Bankruptcy Act of 1914 caused the land to be vested in the Trustee immediately on adjudication; that these sections constituted the law in force in this country on December 6, 1921, and that that law was continued in force by Article 73 of the Constitution of 1922 and Article 50 of the present Constitution.

For the bank it was submitted that no English statute in force after the setting up of the Constitution in this country effectively could vest Irish land in the English Trustee.

Mr. Maurice Walker, K.C., and Mr. Newett (instructed by Messrs. Beauchamp and Orr) appeared for the bank; and Mr. Paul McCarthy, K.C., and Mr. Garrett Gill (instructed by Messrs. Fred. Sutton and Co.) for the English Trustee and the Official Assignee in this country.

PAYMENT OF RATES

"Tenants at will and tenants on sufferance are not occupiers in the strict legal meaning of the word," said Mr. Desmond Bell (instructed by Mr. M. Beatty, solicitor), who appeared for the tenant of a house at Collins avenue, Donnycarney, held from the Irish Soldiers' and Sailors' Land Trust who was sued at Kilmainham District Court yesterday, before District Justice Reddin, for arrears of rates by the Dublin Corporation.

Mr. Dermod Walsh, Assistant Law Agent, who appeared for the Dublin Corporation, pointed out that the person in physical occupation was the occupier.

District Justice Reddin said that on the question of law he had no hesitation in holding that these people were occupiers and were liable for the rates. He gave a decree.

Decrees for rates were also given against a number of other Land Trust tenants.

Mrs. Robertson presenting the Cup to the winner of the 25 Miles Cycling Race, at the annual reunion of the Alco Cycling Club, in the Dublin Gas Company's Offices.

STEALING CHARGES

Charged before Judge Shannon and a jury in the Circuit Criminal Court, Dublin, yesterday with conspiracy to break and enter the premises of Messrs. Tyler, Sir John Rogerson's quay, on January 10 last and stealing hosiery and shoes to the value of £179, and with breaking and entering the premises of the Dublin Ice and Steam Trawling Co., Cardiff lane, and stealing various implements on the same date, John Fallon (39) and Thomas Lewis (19), with Dublin addresses, were found "not guilty" of breaking and entering, stealing and conspiracy, but guilty of receiving four shoes knowing them to have been stolen from Messrs. Tylers.

The Judge directed the jury to find Joseph Brazil (21), James Heffernan (21), Michael Lennon (20), Laurence Brady (19½), John Rafferty (20), and Thomas Byrne (17½), all of Dublin, who had been charged in connection with the same offences, "not guilty" on all counts, and the jury found accordingly.

The eight defendants were put back, as it was stated other charges were pending against them.

INN OR PRIVATE HOTEL?

A law which was enacted because of the depredations of highwaymen in inns at a time when transport was confined to horse-drawn vehicles, was discussed in the Dublin Circuit Court yesterday, when Judge Davitt reversed a decision of the District Court awarding Henry McGowan, Upper Pembroke street, Dublin, a decree for £21 6/-, alleged to have been taken wrongfully from his bedroom in the Kilronan Hotel, Adelaide road, in May last.

The appellants, Jerome O'Connor and Nora O'Connor, proprietors of the hotel, pleaded that the respondent did not stay at the hotel as a traveller, but as a permanent lodger and, therefore, did not come under the Inns Act, and the respondent contended that the place was an inn because it was called a hotel, displayed notices under the Innkeepers Act, and advertised in the newspapers.

Holding that it was a question of intention on the part of the owner as to whether he was an innkeeper or not, Judge Davitt was not satisfied, he said, that it had been the practice to open the place as an inn for travellers, but to run the place in the nature of a private hotel.

Bishop's Warning.—Speaking at Omagh yesterday, the Bishop of Derry (the Most Rev. Dr. Farren) referred to the dangers confronting boys animated with love of country and ideals who were played on by unscrupulous people and brought into organisations under the guise of patriotism, and he appealed to parents to guard against their sons being led blindly into such organisations.

STOCK MARKET REPORTS

DUBLIN EXCHANGE

On the Dublin Stock Exchange yesterday the bulk of attention was centred in the railway market, where fresh strong support put prices appreciably higher. Other sections continued quiet, and movements made an irregular showing.

Home Government Funds were well maintained, and the Fourth National Loan advanced to 106½. British Funds inclined to harden, and in a small Banking group Bank of Ireland stock jumped three points to 325.

Guinness Units improved to 86/-, but Grand Canal Ord. fell 1/- to 59/-. Great Northern Ord. jumped two points to 22, the Pref. 1½ points to 40¾, and the Deb. was raised two points to 78. The Gtd., however, eased to 59¼. All issues were still buyers at the close.

Great Southern Ord. advanced a point to 16; the Pref. firmed up to 19½, while the Gtd. and Deb. held steady. Dublin Transport Ord. repeated 15/6, and Alliance Gas Ord. recovered to 19/9.

Johnston Mooney Pref. tended higher, but Polikoff (I.F.S.) Ord. eased to 3/-, and Smyth and Co. Ord. to 17/6. British Industrials made a quiet showing, and advices from the other side reflected an easier trend.

LONDON DULL

After opening with a steady tone helped by a more favourable reading of the war news, the London Stock Markets yesterday became rather subdued, and inclined to dullness later. Apparently, rumours that French warships would be handed over to Japan had their effect, and caused an easier tendency generally.

Several Gilt-edged securities showed falls, these including Consols, War Loan and 3 p.c. Locals. British Rails were almost entirely neglected, and, though there was a slightly better tone at one time in South Americans, helped by the San Paulo dividend, there was no great change in prices.

Many of the leaders in the Industrial market dropped a few pence. Among Breweries, Guinness were the best of a fairly firm lot, and were up 6d. at 85/6. Distillers lost 3d. Tobaccos were weaker. "Bats" fell 7½d. to 71/3, and Imperials 1/10½ to 6 3/32. Carreras "B" also shed pence. Courtaulds were 3d. down at 33/3, and Dunlops lost a similar amount at 23/-. Coats regained 3d. of the previous day's loss. Brazilian Traction were again higher, and others to improve were General Electric and Vickers. Woolworth again improved in the Stores group, but Marks and Spencer dropped a trifle.

Kaffirs were easier on advices from the Cape, but business was small.

Mexican Eagle continued to be the weakest spot in the Oil market under the influence of the valuation agreement between the American and Mexican interests. Somewhat better news from Burma was a good influence in favour of Burma Oil, and they were quoted 7½d. up at 30/-. "Shells" also improved 7½d.

Cratloe Castle for Irish Lincolnshire

Tote Double—4th and 6th.

THIRTY-THREE runners have been declared for the Irish Lincolnshire Handicap at the Curragh this afternoon, and the race promises to be of outstanding interest. Cameron, winner of the corresponding race last year, with 1lb. less to carry, makes appeal, but since M. Wing, the first jockey attached to the Conyngham Lodge Stable, rides Apocalypse, Mr. Joe McGrath's horse is apparently the fancied one from this stable. Airds Moss and Free Lover will be well backed candidates, and Martin Griffin, the mount of T. Burns, should come into the reckoning. One could name many others with chances in a handicap which has a very open appearance. Cratloe Castle, who is fit from hurdling, may step up on some previous performances in big races and win, but, were there no doubts as to the well being of Ins an Mala, she would be the choice. Selections:—

Rossmore Hurdle—Gold Rainbow.
Scurry Plate—Coupe.
Juvenile Plate—Fair W.A.A.F.
Irish Lincolnshire—Cratloe Castle.
Loughbrown Plate—Miss Slideaway.
His Majesty's Plate—Etoile de Lyons.

£17,000 CLAIM

Mr. Justice Hanna, in the High Court, Dublin, yesterday, reserved judgment in the action in which James J. Mooney, solicitor, Woodleigh, Sundays Well, Cork, suing as trustee for Timothy Walsh, building contractor, Finbarr House, Western road, Cork, claimed £17,238 odd against North Cork Board of Health and Public Assistance, as balance due on contracts of September 15, 1936, for the building of 209 cottages in the rural districts of Mitchelstown and Fermoy, and extra work. The Board denied that the money was due, and pleaded that if Mr. Walsh did extra work it was work which he was bound to do in accordance with his contracts.

Mr. Costello, K.C.; Mr. Joseph A. McCarthy, K.C., and Mr. Vaughan Buckley (instructed by Mr. K. P. Kilbride), appeared for Mooney; and Mr. Frank FitzGibbon, K.C.; Mr. Chadwick, K.C., and Mr. Vaughan Wilson (instructed by Messrs. O'Connor and Dudley) for the Board.

CRUELTY TO A COW

Thomas Hackett, Ballymacormack, Co. Longford, was fined £2 by District Justice Burke, in the Dublin District Court, for permitting a cow to be conveyed from Longford to Liffey Junction in a G.S.R. railway wagon while the animal's bones on a hind leg were protruding and bleeding, thereby causing it unnecessary suffering.

Cases against the G.S.R. Company and John Baxter, Mullagh, Co. Cavan, of aiding and abetting Hackett were dismissed.
